

Abstract of the Disclosure

There is provided a layout system with order-placement capability that is suitable for improving the efficiency of a process from designing a layout to placing an order for layout.

- 5 The layout system 100 includes layout section 110 for performing layout according to user operations and layout order placing section 140 for placing an order for layout, depending on a layout result provided by the layout section 110.